FOREWORD

It has been our desire to here collect memoirs of what we hope have been to all concerned, Happy Tech Days; so that in after years when looking over these pages, you will smile with the pleasant recollection brought to mind by the picture or name of some old chum.

Editor-in-Chief.

Dedication

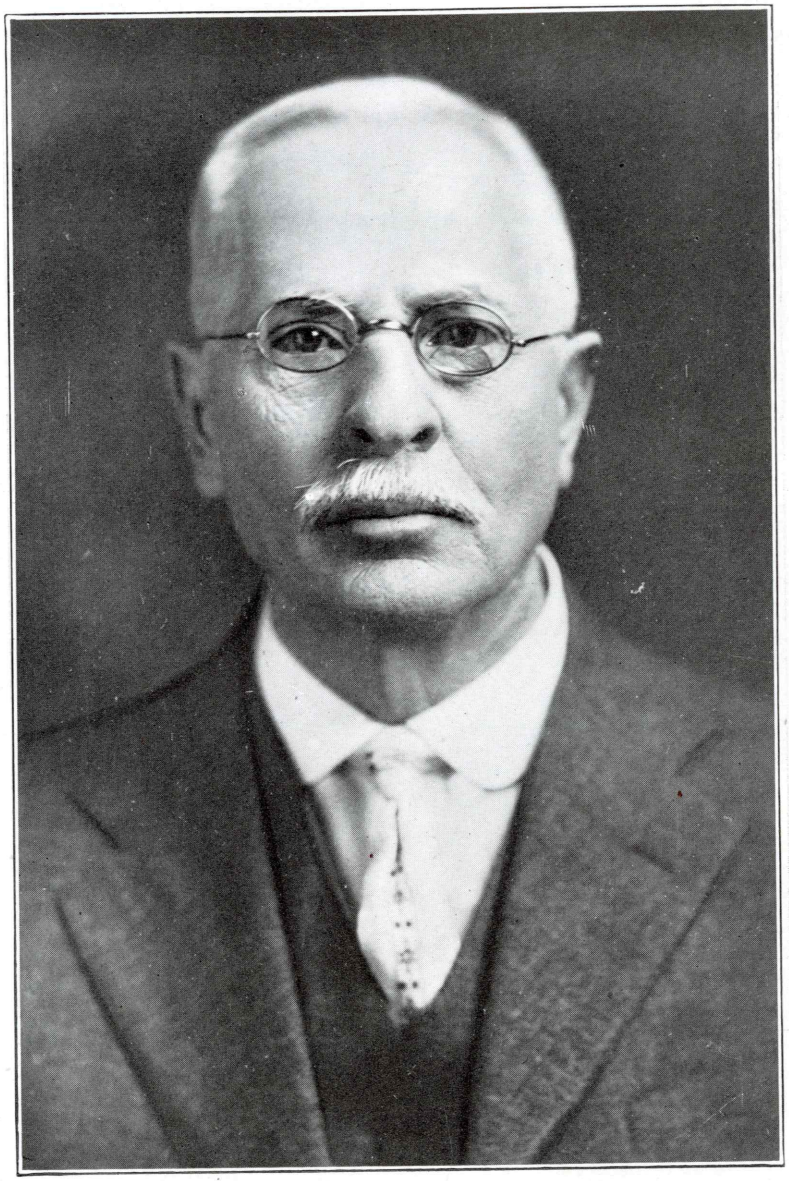

To our beloved friend and teacher

MRS. W. FLOYD PEARCE

we, the Seniors of '23, do lovingly dedicate this tenth volume of Lagniappe in appreciation of her loyalty, sincerity and constant endeavor to uphold the spirit of dear old Tech.

MRS. W. FLOYD PEARCE

THE LATE GEORGE O. THATCHER

GEORGE O. THATCHER

1852-1923

ON April 4, 1923, died Prof. George O. Thatcher, aged seventy-one years. To all who have been connected with the Louisiana Polytechnic Institute, no announcement could be more significant than this brief statement. In time it covers almost the entire history of this institution. In personality it concerns one who gave twenty-four years of his life to its development. What better service could any man have rendered to his State? He touched the lives of thousands of Louisiana's sons and daughters and left them better because of his teachings and his influence. He stood as a tower of strength among his students, as a monument of inspiration to his co-workers. He was a living example of the nobility of service, the embodiment of all that makes a noble Christian gentleman.

The dignity of his presence commanded the respect and admiration of all who knew him. The grace of his personality made it possible for the humblest seeker after information to feel at ease before him. No matter was too small for his attention; no detail too insignificant for his consideration. He possessed the power of knowledge without ostentation. He was an example of precision, of exactness, and of justice. The grandeur of his character, the majesty of his intellect, and the humility of his spirit combined to make him a truly great man.

In The Land of the Pelican Pines

(A Tribute to Tech.)

The beam of the sun, the gleam of the moon,
The glow of a star that shines,
A dream world brings, and it takes me back
To the land of the Pelican Pines.

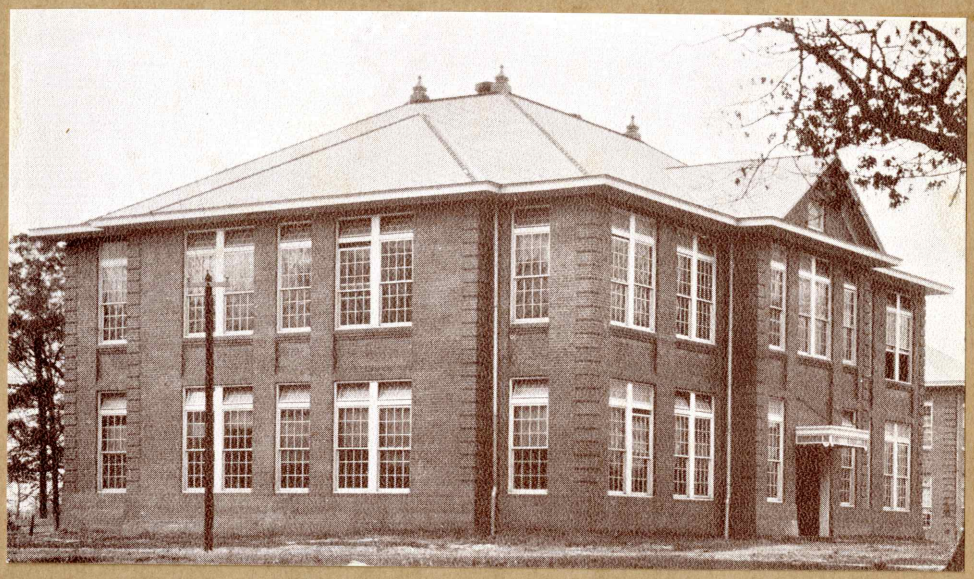

In this Southern land, 'neath Southern skies,
A school, dear to this heart of mine,
Holds forth in her purpose, old Tech, to the last,
In the land of the Pelican Pines.

In passing years when I cease to roam,
And tho't with its memory combines,
I will long again for my youthful life
In the land of the Pelican Pines.

Poets have written of this and that;
But the story that runs in these lines
Is that of our Tech, the most wonderful school,
In the land of the Pelican Pines.

I have lived for her, I would die for her,
Though my life may not be sublime;
For people are true and do not fail in their trust,
In the land of the Pelican Pines.

Senior Class

D. G. ARMSTRONG, B. S.

DUBACH, LA.

Pedagogy Department

Entered '20

From what we have heard of "Strengthy" we have missed much by not knowing him personally. He is one of our members who is making a splendid mark in the teaching profession.

"Common sense in an uncommon degree is what the world calls wisdom."

MRS. M. A. PRICE, B. S.

RUSTON, LA.

Pedagogy Department

Entered '20

She is a woman worthy of any praise that could be given her. Her kindness and ready smile made all her acquaintances her friends.

"Her face betokens all things dear and good."

SUE WILLIE PRICE, B. S.

RUSTON, LA.

Pedagogy Department after finishing Home Economics Course in '20

Entered '17; Secretary and Treasurer Junior Class '20; Reporter Cap and Gown Club '22; Lagniappe Staff '23.

Sue Willie can lay just claim to being one of the best students that La. Tech. has ever had, but that isn't all. She is a great lover of sports and out-of-door life. In her chosen profession, teaching, she has already done splendid work in two high schools of the State. Those who have known and loved her best hate to part with her.

"Magnificent spectacle of human happiness."

Senior Class

ROBERT L. SEEGERS, B. S.

HAYNESVILLE, LA.

Mechanical and Electrical Engineering

Entered '19; President Y. M. C. A. '20-'21; President Junior Class '21; Varsity Football '19-'20-'21-'22; Varsity Basketball '20-'21; Assistant Business Manager Lagniappe '22; A. O. Fraternity; President Cap and Gown Club '22; Student Instructor '22-'23; Assistant Instructor of Physical Training '22.

Every one loved dear old "Bob." Even now we seem to hear the Tech rooters at a football game yelling, "Seegers! Seegers!" Bob is greatly missed but we are assured of his success in business in Memphis.

"Neither to seek nor to despise honors."

FLORENCE L. HAMILTON, B. S.

VIVIAN, LA.

Pedagogy Department

Entered '20; President Y. W. C. A. '22; President Wesley Bible Class '22; Treasurer Junior Class '22; President Pedagogy Students '22; Lagniappe Staff '22; Cheer Leader '21-'22-'23; Cap and Gown Club '22-'23; Girls' Physical Director '22; Voted Best All-Around Girl '23; Editor-in-Chief Lagniappe '23.

"Heavy" is a girl who would be an asset to any college and we are glad that Tech holds her. She has held every position of honor and trust open to co-eds. When you notice that the Bulldogs occupy a prominent place in this book, just remember that "Heavy" was for them heart and soul. If she has an enemy, better not mention it to the students here—who thought enough of her to vote her the Best All-Around Girl in Tech.

"Nuff Said."

J. RUDOLPH HOLMAN, JR., B. S.

ALEXANDRIA, LA.

Mechanical and Electrical Engineering

Entered '18; Z. A. K. Fraternity; Y. M. C. A.; Vice-President Cap and Gown Club '22; Lagniappe Staff '22; Football '20-'21-'22; Gym Instructor '22.

Altho' the "Runt of Tech," "Rudy" has done much for her; and is greatly missed by his many friends who know him to be as true as gold.

"He is a sincere friend, what more need be said?"

Senior Class

C. W. EDWARDS, B. S.

RUSTON, LA.

Pedagogy Department

Entered '22.

"Little One" is well known and greatly admired by all, because of his ability to "put it across." To be a successful teacher is a very admirable quality.

"Great oaks from little acorns grow."

GLADYS KIDD, B. S.

RUSTON, LA.

Finished Home Economics Course '18, re-entered '22, taking Pedagogy

Entered '15; President Cap and Gown Club '23; Lagniappe Staff '23.

To know her is to love her. "Punka" is one of the most dependable girls in school. One wonders how she knows and does so much and yet always has time for a smile and a pleasant word with her friends, everyone whom she meets.

"The light that shines in a woman's eyes; Oh! how it lies, it lies, it lies."

ALLEN BARKSDALE, B. S.

RUSTON, LA.

Mechanical and Electrical Engineering.

Entered '19; Z. A. K. Fraternity; President Wesley Bible Class '21; Cap and Gown Club '22-'23; Cadet Sergeant R. O. T. C. '20.

Allen is one whom you must know to understand. He is rather sparing of words but is a fine fellow. We are expecting Allen to make a great success in the line of Engineering, for he has a very practical mind and keeps up with all phases of Engineering work.

"He is not satisfied with the ordinary things of life."

Senior Class

M. H. BARDWELL, B. S.

JONESBORO, LA.

Pedagogy Department

Entered '13; Re-entered '20; Vice-President Junior Class '15; A. O. Fraternity.

"Mike" has proven his merit by his success as principal of several High Schools of the state. He is an inspiration to all with whom he comes in contact.

"Smile and the world smiles with you."

ROSE LAWRENCE, B. S.

RUSTON, LA.

Home Economics Course

Entered '17; Vice-President Cap and Gown Club '22; Lagniappe Staff '22; Treasurer Cap and Gown Club '22.

Rose was a splendid member of our class and known for her gentleness and kindness. Our best wishes go with her and we are sure her ability will be put to good use.

"Virtue alone is true nobility."

JOHN C. HICKS, B. A.

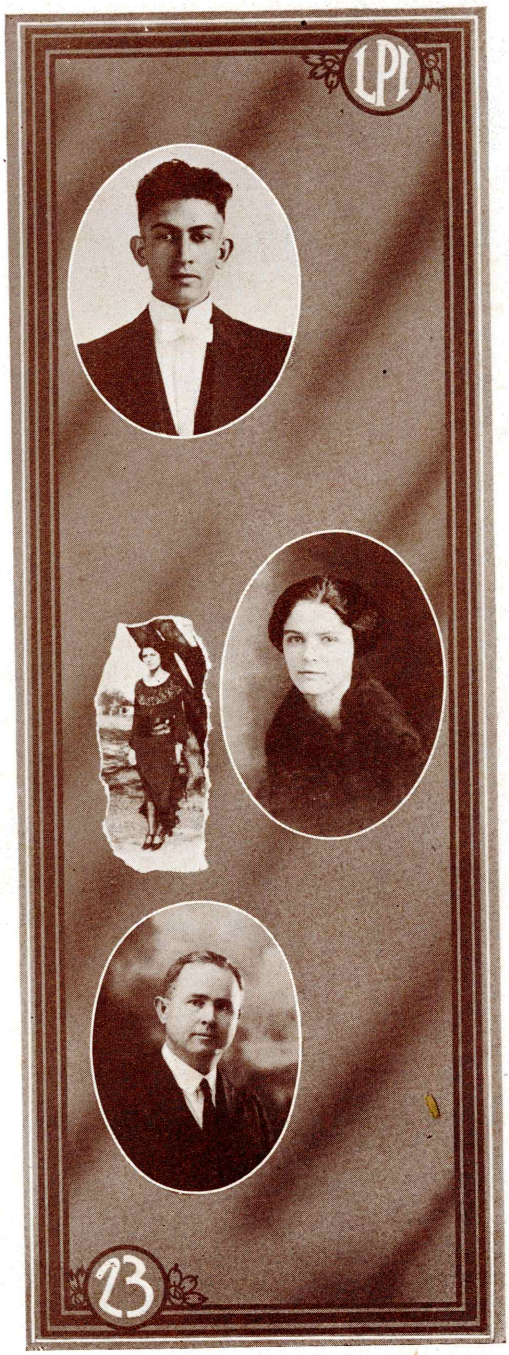

SIMSBORO, LA.

Pedagogy Department

Entered '20; Vice-President of Senior Class '22.

He is another from our teaching ranks who is making good. Earnestness and perseverance must ever be admired when rightly aimed.

"Whatever is worth doing at all is worth doing well."

Senior Class

NOEL FIELDER, B. S.

SUMMERFIELD, LA.

Pedagogy Department

Success is certainly deserved by those who strive for it; and we are always glad to have with us such sincere students as Fielder.

"I may not be a poet but I am a long fellow."

QUINNIE E. STELL

RUSTON, LA.

Home Economics Course

Entered '18; Treasurer Cap and Gown Club '23; Lagniappe Staff '23.

"She always smiles in the same sweet way."

J. P. LYNCH, B. S.

RUSTON, LA.

Pedagogy Department

Entered '22.

When one puts forth a good effort only good results are expected; you are not disappointed in J. P. for he certainly did his best while with us. He doesn't say much but when he speaks he says something worth while.

"To say little and perform much shows the characteristics of a great man."

Senior Class

NORMAN L. MONCRIEF, B. S.

RUSTON, LA.

Pedagogy Department

Entered '13; Re-entered '22; Literary Society '17; President Cap and Gown Club '22; Lagniappe Staff '23.

Much has been accomplished by Norman, and much more is now being expected of him because of the splendid record he has made here. In any class you can always depend on him to deliver the goods.

"His future is aglow with possibilities."

MACK LEDBETTER

RUSTON, LA.

Senior Prophecy

THE gypsies from whom I had bought the soap said it was the best known for bubble blowing, so I immediately hunted up my old clay pipe and tried my luck. The first bubble I blew was a beauty and seemed to reflect all of the brightest colors of the spectrum. When I looked closer I recognized the brighter colors as childrens' aprons and the vision of blue as Gladys Kidd, who was telling them a story.

When the bubble floated away I blew another and saw in it a traveler's car covered with advertisements expounding the virtues of a newly discovered red wine. The driver of the car was none other than Norman Moncrief.

A row of bright children's faces appeared in the next orb and before them a small man with a watch in his hand. Yes, it was Edwards giving an arithmetic test.

I then blew a very large one which I feared would burst before I discovered the mysteries that it contained, but very distinctly I saw Allen and Rudolph bending over a small engine and patent papers.

Throngs of young girls seen in the next bubble were standing in line before a door upon which close inspection revealed the inscription: "Mrs. M. A. Price, Dean of Women."

A brilliantly lighted hall appeared as I blew again. Armstrong was talking and Bardwell was distributing pamphlets labeled "Education's Latest Trend."

Bob Seegers appeared in the next bubble reading the morning paper, while a valet filled his pipe.

Very little color showed as I slowly sent my breath through the pipe, but in the soft light I recognized Rose as a bride walking down a church aisle.

The orange-red of the bubble I blew next took the shape of a modern high school building and at the office window the form of J. C. Hicks could be distinguished.

Pennants flew and people moved about in the next bubble so rapidly that I had difficulty in recognizing the central object, but there she was—Florence Hamilton at a ball game.

A small bubble which moved restlessly on the pipe bowl showed an up-to-date department store and Noel Fielder, floor walker.

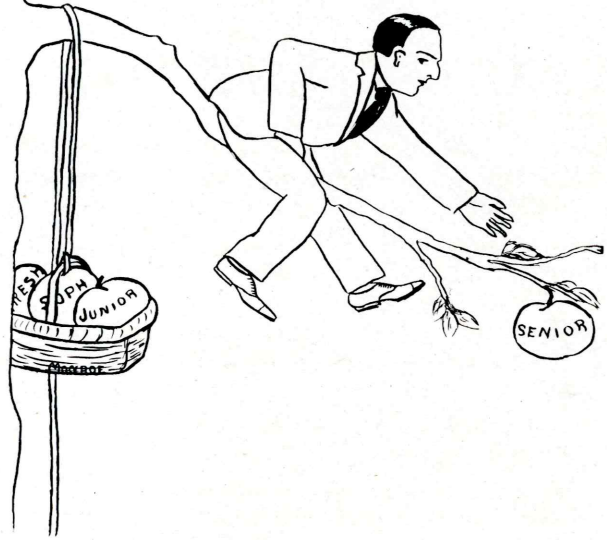

I blew again and a large silver moon shone over a sea of sparkling water, revealing Sue Willie Price standing at the door of an Hawaiian thatch house.

Lynch appeared in a very large bubble, directing a class in gardening.

I dipped my pipe again into the suds and blew into the stem, but no bubble appeared—the fate of the seniors alone was revealed. The charm was broken.

"Sophs"

Outside the trees were swaying in the breeze,
Inside the teacher's questions flowed with ease;
The Sophomore's mind was wandering far away
To thoughts and dreams of Junior and Senior days.

He saw himself a Freshman of the past
Grow and bloom into a "Soph," at last.
His long slick hair in the middle begin to part
And you can bet he broke many a heart.

And as the teacher's voice grew soft and low
The vision of his Junior year did grow;
All at once things grew gloomy and black,
And he saw himself being initiated into the "Frat."

As he looked again the vision grew bright and fair
For lo, at last, he had the "Senior Air;"
He wore his cap and gown that wondrous day
And reached for his sheepskin, his diligent work to repay.

His dream was broken and shattered into dust
When the teacher said, "Soph, explain why a nail does rust,"
He opened his eyes and slowly looked around
Then said, "Why, Sir, it's because it's been on the ground."

Pre-Medical, Pre-Dental and Pre-Legal Courses

BEGINNING with the fall term 1923, L. P. I. will offer three additional two-year courses: Pre-Medical, Pre-Dental and Pre-Legal. These courses will offer the equivalent of the first two years of work required by our best universities.

These courses will require at least fifteen units of secondary school work or the applicant must be a graduate of an approved high school. The Pre-Medical and Pre-Dental Courses require three units in English, two in history, two in mathematics, three in science and two in French.

The Pre-Legal Course requires three units in English, two in science, two in mathematics, two in history and two in Latin.

Tech is the only state school in North Louisiana offering these courses and many boys and girls of this part of the state will have the opportunity of getting first-class training in this line of work.

FRESHMEN

"The Freshie's Lament"

Daylight and eight o'clock—
How fast the time does pass,
But may there be no unexpected shock,
If I do cut my class.

'Tis such an act as sleepy students do,
Too tired for work I wiz;
And then at nine I'm feeling very blue,
I've got a quizz.

One hour and then the bell,
And after that no more,
And may there be no tolling of my knell,
If I do snore.

BOOK III
Departments

HOME ECONOMICS

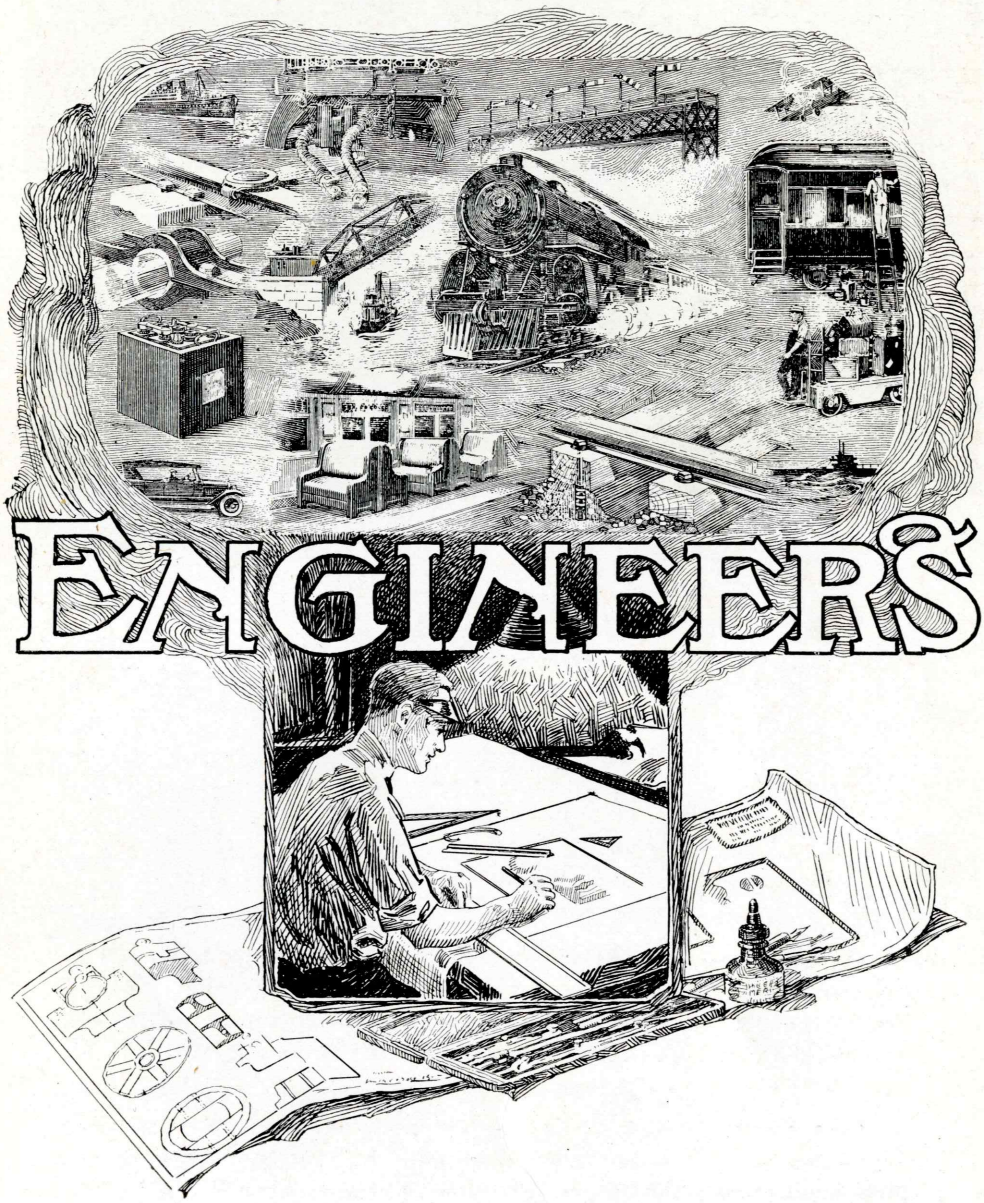

Home Economics Department

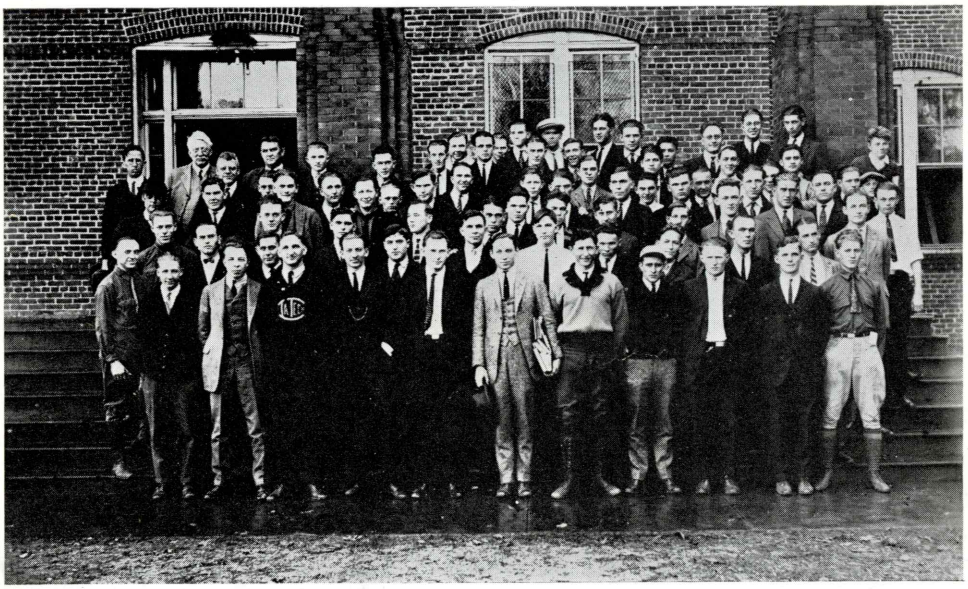

ONE HAS only to trace briefly the growth and development of this department to realize its value and importance in La. Tech today.

From work in one room of the present academic building, we have grown, until today, we occupy the largest and best equipped buildings in the state and a large practice cottage. We owe our growth first of all to the need for such a department and then to the conscientious and untiring efforts of our teachers.

While the Home Economics Course emphasizes, primarily, the practical and material side of life, it does not stop there. To the end that well-rounded culture may be secured, there is offered in connection with the work in domestic science and art, complete and related courses in academic subjects.

The Home Economics Course was introduced in 1896 by Miss Lillia Harkins; since that time it has been directed by Miss Harner, Miss Judd, Miss Cameron, Miss Graham and is at present under the supervision of Miss Hendricks.

ENGINEERS

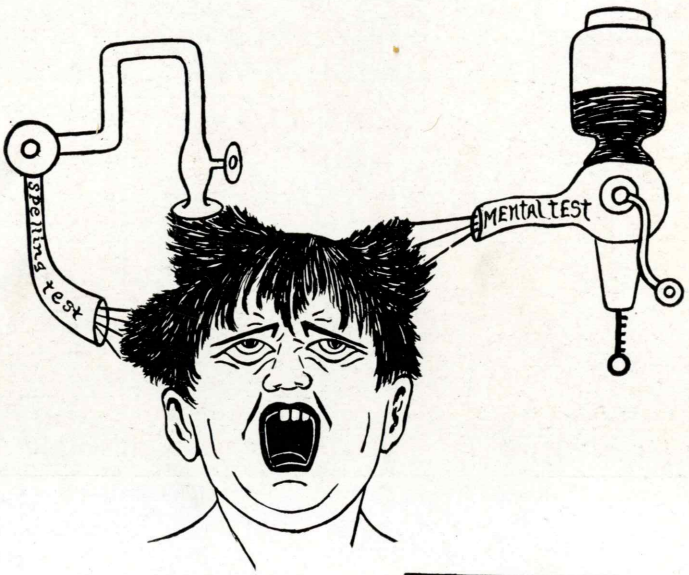

Engineering Department

THE SCHOOL OF ENGINEERING of Louisiana Polytechnic Institute is one of the oldest departments of the school and has ever stood out as a potent factor in its development.

How well Tech has kept pace with the rapid progress in the field of engineering is indicated by the class of her graduates. La. Tech engineers have always gone out and, working side by side with men from the best universities of the country have won recognition for themselves and their school. Recently one of our men was sent to Harvard to pick three men to hold responsible positions in a concern which he serves in an executive capacity. One had charge of the electrification of a railroad system; one has had a large share in the development of a great oil field; one heads a large automobile concern and so on we might enumerate instances where Tech engineers have won out in the face of keenest competition.

The time is long past when the engineering profession was looked down upon; for the engineer of today is a highly specialized man. A doctor once remarked to an engineer that he would not belong to that profession because of their large number of failures, but you must remember that all of our failures are above the ground and they are becoming fewer and fewer every day.

DEVONNE RICHMOND.

EDUCATIONAL TESTS AND MEASUREMENTS.

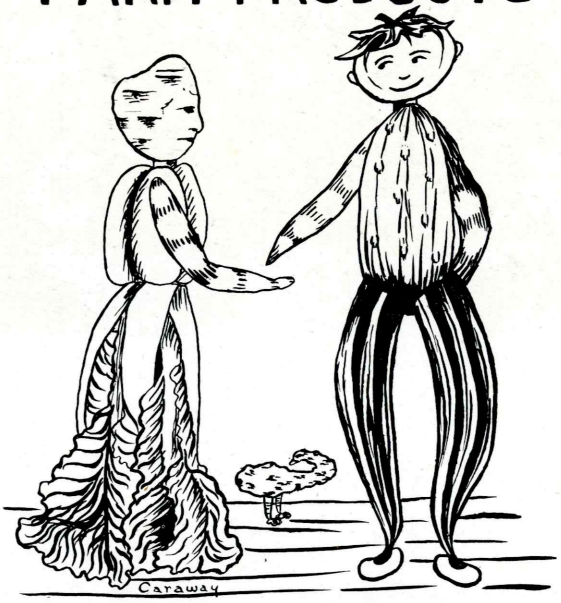

Pedagogy Department

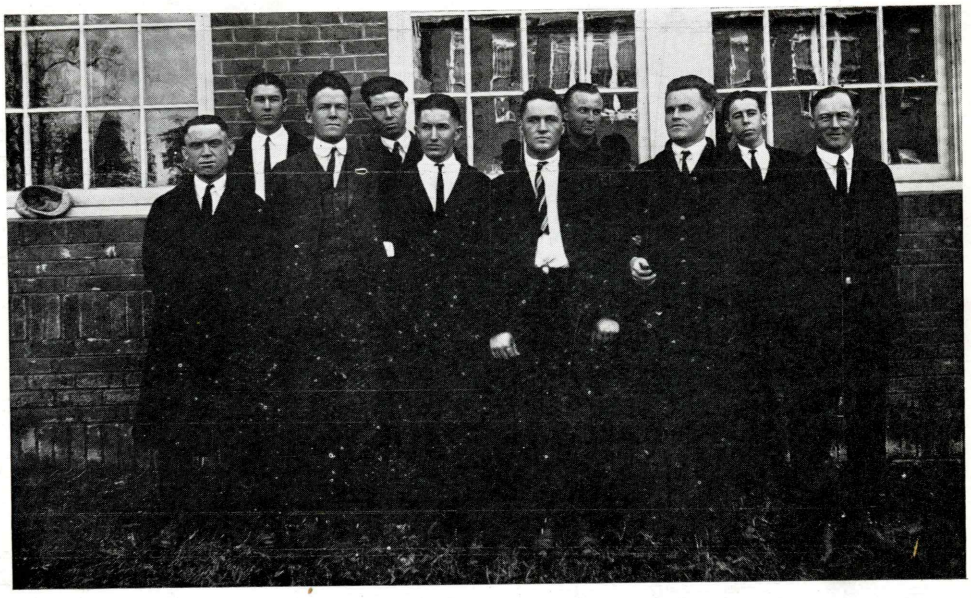

THERE is an increasing demand for well-trained teachers and at the present time the demand is much greater than the supply. In order to help meet this demand L. P. I. has established a well-organized pedagogy department.

We, as pedagogy students, feel proud of our department. We also feel proud of our instructors because we believe them to be competent men, always striving to give us the best they have. We are sure that they not only have our interest at heart but a still deeper interest in the welfare of the children that may be placed in our care.

The graduates go out from this department with the feeling that they are entering upon one of the greatest callings. They go out with a new vision; with a full determination to give the very best service possible; with a desire to give to the children, placed under their care, the very best training; so that they may be useful and efficient men and women, functioning in the home, church, club, community, on the playground and in the civic affairs.

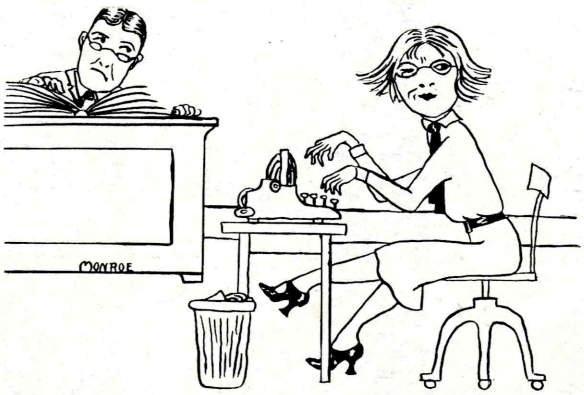

FARM PRODUCTS

The Agriculture Department

GAZE here friends, at the "Ags." Gaze long and closely, too, for you may be looking at a future secretary of agriculture. You will notice, of course, that the Ags can lay no just claim to superior numbers, or to beauty. But they offer you instead a solemn promise to try to make two pigs grow where only one grew before—in addition to the well-known two blades of grass. They have resolved, too, that the boll weevil shall not inherit the earth. And one of their many mottoes is, "Down with the 'Scrub Sire'."

The Business Department

AMONG Tech's oldest and most important departments is that of business, which offers not only a very complete training in bookkeeping, stenography, commercial law, banking and finance, and other kindred subjects, but also an academic course which is unparalleled as a preparation for law or any other profession. The student who completes the business course of L. P. I. learns a profession that will be ever dependable for an income, and at the same time learns to think in terms of finance and the business world.

We are indeed proud of the records made by our alumni. Among the best office workers, likewise among the leaders of great note, our graduates can be found. The present attorney-general of one state in the union is a graduate of this department; he is only one of the many who have developed into real leaders among their fellows.

This course is indeed typical of the entire school. It has for its aim; "Train the head, the heart, and the hand"; and it is in this course that the greatest degree of all three is developed.

A Few Business-like Remarks

Thelma: "Marion, who is Alma Mater? I've seen her name in this book 'bout ten times."

—::—

Mignon: "I can't stand kissing."

Arthur: "Let's find a good seat."

—::—

Owen (at Red Onion): "Do you serve lobsters here?"

Hawthorne: "Sure, we serve anybody, sit down."

"I draw the line on kissing,"
She said in accents fine.
But he was a football player,
And so he crossed the line.

Mr. Robinette (seizing Folse by the shoulder): "Young man, I believe the devil has a hold on you."

Douglas (calmly): "I believe he has, sir."

Art

Art Department

Colors: Green and White. Motto: "Grow."

Greenies! Greenies! Greenies!

YES, we are green and we are proud that we are, for green denotes fresh spirit, vigor and growth. We have the "glowing spirit" which is a "growing spirit" and in the end a "knowing spirit."

Few can create works of art, but all must use them. Everybody is called upon to decide questions of shape, arrangement and color, either in their home, school, business, or wearing apparel. Alas! how few can decide these questions satisfactorily.

The most important thing we learn in this department is not how to draw or design, but how to use our knowledge of art qualities in our everyday lives. It is more important for the majority of the students to know how to use art qualities, than to spend hours of time in trying to produce works of art.

Music Department

"Of all things beautiful and grand,
If I could a choice be given,
Let music charm me last on earth,
And greet my spirit first in Heaven."

NOT so many years ago, music was looked upon as a kind of useless luxury; often a species of matrimonial bait designed to add to the charms of young ladies in quest of a soulmate. But we have lived to see a wonderful change. Music, once a luxury, has become a necessity.

Realizing this, the music department of L. P. I. is continually moving forward and has become one of its most distinctive features. Its aim is to teach the art in its noblest, fullest and highest sense.

Excellent courses are offered for the study of piano, voice and violin.

With the piano work, the students are required to study theory, harmony, and ear training as given by Progressive Series, and when sufficiently advanced, they are given the opportunity to play in public.

The chorus, band and orchestra afford the students an opportunity to do ensemble work.

COACH WILLIAM H. DIETZ

Coach William H. Dietz

COACH "LONE STAR" DIETZ came to Louisiana Tech with a record worthy of praise. He received his early training at the famous Carlisle Indian School, having played there four years and helped Jim Thorpe make history in football at Carlisle. He was Captain of his team when they gave Harvard an overwhelming defeat. He was chosen by Walter Camp on his All-American Eleven. After finishing at Carlisle he became assistant coach there under "Pop" Glen Warner, later retiring from football.

After being out of the game a few years he was signed up to coach Washington State College. He at once set to work to build up a winning team. During the three years he coached for Washington State, he won the Pacific Coast Championship twice and beat Brown 14 to 0. Brown came after fresh victories over Harvard and Yale and had in her line-up three All-American men. On New Year's Day fifty thousand people saw Coach Dietz's team uphold the glory of the West by beating the best team in the East. We are very glad indeed that Coach Dietz has consented to give his time and talent to "Old Tech" for years 1923 and 1924.

The bringing of a football man of Coach Dietz's ability into Louisiana will have a great influence on football in the South and on our own future football.

ASSISTANT COACH REESE

Assistant Coach Reese

He is known as the little man who is always pulling for the "Scrubs."

He is heart and soul for them on the football field. We all enjoyed listening to him orate in their behalf at the banquet.

Mr. Reese deserves much credit for the success of the squad, for you know: "A fighting scrub team makes a winning first team."

Captain Edgar Walker

E. L. Walker, Captain of the 1922 Tech football team, was a good Captain and one of the best men that ever wore a Tech uniform. A clean chap and a hard worker—he inspired the boys and was liked by them.

He played end and dared his opponents to come his way. His teammates knew that he could be relied upon to get his man and when he was called back to carry the ball the line was hit hard.

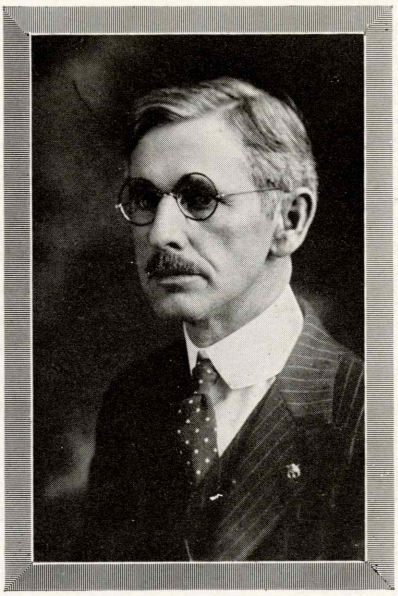

We are anxious for him to be back in 1923 to help us get revenge on the famous "Bo McMillan."

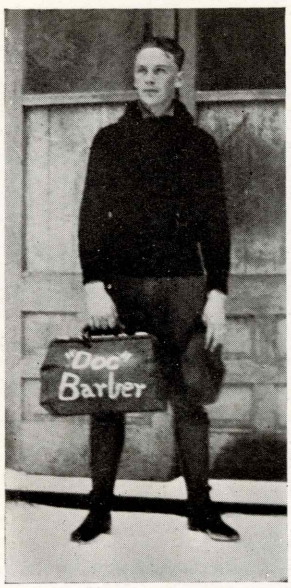

CAPTAIN EDGAR WALKER

Football Physician

AT ANY TIME when the football boys needed medical attention they always found Dr. Pankey ready to mend their bruises. In spite of the fact that he would give us those bitter tablets between halves, we all love and honor him and feel that we had a better team because of his assistance.

DR. J. H. PANKEY

"DOC" VAUGHN BARBER

"Doc Barber"

ALTHOUGH he is not worried with a Medical Degree he has all the earmarks of a real doctor.

"Charley Horses" and sprained ankles are his specialty.

"Doc" has already had two years' experience with us and we trust will be a candidate for a third term when the call goes out to the football men of 1923.

Review of 1922 Football Season

FOOTBALL for Louisiana Polytechnic Institute in 1922 was a decided success. Although we lost our last and most important game, Coach Dietz put out the best team that has ever represented the Bull Dogs. Out of our seven games we won six, running up 293 points against our opponents' 26. The score of these games follow:

Louisiana Tech	34	Hendrix College	0
Louisiana Tech	0	Louisiana State Normal	0
Louisiana Tech	33	Henderson Brown	0
Louisiana Tech	100	Clark Memorial	0
Louisiana Tech	33	Louisiana College	6
Louisiana Tech	89	Arkansas Aggies	0
Louisiana Tech	0	Centenary College	20

COACH DIETZ brought to Tech a new style of play and had a most difficult task in rounding out a smooth working machine. He was up against a tough proposition trying to instill big time football into a bunch of recruits who had been accustomed to playing "Barn Yard" ball. Perhaps our greatest need was quantity, for the men we had certainly showed their "steel" and fighting spirit in every game, but an injury meant disaster, for we did not have enough material to replace those on the casualty list. This proved to be a very costly need for this, and this alone, lost us the Centenary game. Practically all of our first string men received honorable mention in the write-ups and three have been awarded positions on the All-State eleven.

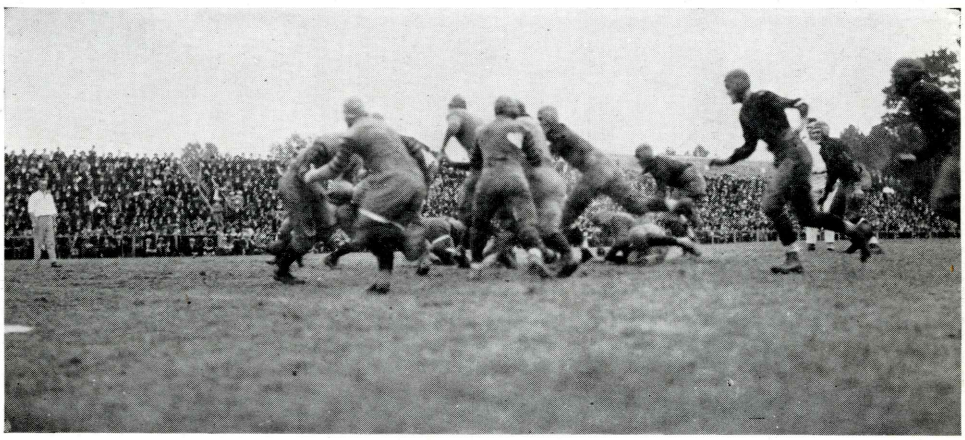

October 14, 1922, the Bull Dogs annexed another scalp by defeating the Hendrix College team from Arkansas. This being the first game of the season Dietz used many men to test everyone's ability and weakness. The fighting spirit of the Bull Dog prevailed throughout the game and at the final whistle the score was 34-0 in favor of "Ole Tech."

October 20th proved to be an unfortunate day for Tech when Coach Dietz and his charges journeyed to Natchitoches to play the Louisiana State Normal College. What seemed to be an easy team, met and outplayed our team in the first half. Then the Bull Dogs began to realize that they had a battle before them. The Bull Dogs outplayed the "Normalites" from every angle in the last half of the game. Several times the ball was carried to Normal's one-yard line only to be lost there or to be carried back on a penalty. The Bull Dogs made eleven first downs while the Normal was not able to gain a single one. The Bull Dogs were penalized one hundred fifteen yards while the Normal did not receive a single penalty. Turpin starred, as he was the official. However, all the credit does not go to him for Tech was far from playing football that day.

The Bull Dogs badly outclassed Clark's Memorial College on October 27th, and ran the game into a track meet, the final score being 100-0.

November 3, was looked forward to as one of the greatest days of the year, as we were to play Henderson-Brown College. They came with the record of holding the powerful Vanderbilt machine to 32 points.

So you see they were in a way justified in thinking that they were down for a day off. However, the Bull Dogs were in good trim and played in a way that will long be remembered.

Tech received the kick-off, Webber carrying the ball back to Tech's 35-yard line. Willis made 6 yards off tackle and Hollis went through the line for first down. Reed made 3 yards and Hollis 30 through the line, placing the ball on Henderson Brown's 31-yard line. A forward pass from Willis to Mathes carried them to Henderson's 1-yard line and Willis took the ball over for first touchdown. Both teams fought desperately in the second quarter, neither scoring. Score at end of first half, Tech 7, Henderson-Brown 0.

Tech came back strong in the second half. After kicking to Henderson, "Legs" Richardson blocked a punt and Mathes carried the ball for the second touchdown. The third touchdown came in the third quarter after a series of line bucks by Anders, Willis, Reed and Hollis finally crossed the line. The fourth touchdown came after a 25-yard run by Anders, several line plunges by "Speedy" Lawrence and a 25-yard pass from Willis to Mathes. The last score was made by "Speedy" after Anders, Willis and Red had carried the ball down the field on end runs. Final score, Tech 34, Henderson-Brown 0.

One week after the Henderson-Brown game the Bull Dogs invaded Pineville and took the "Wild Cats'" fur to the tune of 33-6. The "Wild Cats" were the first to cross the goal line due to the many fumbles of Tech by an entire substitute team. The score does not indicate the class of ball the two teams played, as Tech woke up after the "Wild Cats" had slipped a touchdown over her and scored 25 points in one quarter and then ran in second string men for the rest of the game.

On November 18, the Bull Dogs had another meal at the expense of the Arkansas Aggies. The Bull Dogs scored at will running up 89 points to Aggies 0.

On Thanksgiving Day the Bull Dogs and about two thousand of their followers went to Shreveport for their annual clash with the Centenary "Gentlemen."

"Bo" McMillan, the noted Center College star, had attracted to Centenary many ball players with good records, and also some good high school material, which he had worked into a splendid working machine. About ten thousand people saw the two teams march on the field. Centenary kicked to Tech, Reed carrying the ball to Centenary's 40-yard line where they lost it in their next play on a fumble. For twelve minutes both teams struggled in mid-field until "Mexico" Farrell got away with a 45-yard run for a touchdown. Centenary scored again and kicked goal in second quarter.

Between halves, the L. P. I. students, who had stood like a brick wall for their team, marched out on the field and won the admiration and applause of the entire crowd by forming a huge L. P. I. The demonstration, including marching and singing in that formation, was completed in six minutes. Every one knew from beginning to end that Tech had a team and a school that the student body was proud of, win or lose.

The second half of that game was one long battle. Substitutes were thrown in on each side but took their places like veterans and just as the shadows were falling many a man found himself.

It was a great game and the best team won.

Baseball of 1922

BASEBALL at Louisiana Tech took a step forward last season, as the Tech team won the College Championship of Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas. The Tech team under the able coaching of R. Foster Clark was considered one of the best teams in the South, if not the best.

Tech opened the season by defeating Henderson-Brown 8-0 and 11-0. Then came the "Gassers," but "Old Sol" refused to shine, and showers prevented the game.

The second series was with our old foe, Centenary, which was easy winning 18-5 in Shreveport and beating Centenary 2-1 and 11-1 on Tech grounds. Tech overwhelmed Louisiana College in a two-game series, 19-5 and 9-1.

On April 20, 21 and 22, Tech started a three-game series with the Arkansas Normal team, which held the championship of Arkansas. The first game was close, Tech winning 3-1. The second was a farce, going to Arkansas Normal 12-6. The last and deciding game was won 2-0 by Tech. Hawthorne pitched a great game for Tech. Tech defeated Millsaps College 10-0 and 8-2 on April 29 and 30. On May 5 and 6, Tech won two close games from Mississippi College, 3-0 and 7-6, the last game going ten innings.

Most of the Tech's games were close, but in every game the superior team work of Tech won out. Brown at first base led the batters and was a wonderful fielder. Hollis added much strength to the team work both at the bat and in the field. Willis was always good with his fielding and timely bingles. Montgomery played third, and was one of the best seen here in many seasons. The outfield was made up of Linton, Reed, Davis and Hair. There was never a better outfield, both on offensive and defensive. Gunboat Smith does not need to be mentioned, as he is one of the best known catchers in this section of the country. Hawthorne, Zinn, Davis and Linton composed the pitching staff, and, from the record of the team, the reader should know that they were among the best in college baseball.

Although this book is going to press before a game is played this season baseball practice is being directed daily by Coach Dietz, and prospects for this season are equally bright if not brighter than they were last season.

Girls' Physical Educational Department

MARGARET POSTELL
Director

LOUISIANA Polytechnic Institute has for its aim to turn out men and women educated best to become good citizens. To realize this aim, the physical education of girls was instituted.

Here the girls are not only developed physically, but learn to be good sports. Athletics aid them in having a happy, healthy and clean college career.

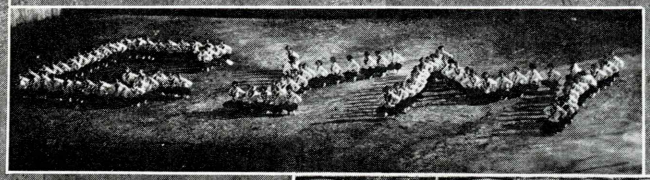

The formal "gym" work is divided into three groups, namely: light "gym" for new girls, unaccustomed to exercises; medium "gym" for those ready for heavier work, and then heavy "gym" for the girls who have gone through the other classes and are physically fit for strenuous exercise.

Every girl is thoroughly examined before being classified. These sports are carefully supervised and the girl who makes the teams must not only play well but must be a real sport and throw her whole self into the game. These requirements help wonderfully in shaping their characters toward a wholesome end.

Every girl has to appear in class fully attired in regulation suits which consists of black bloomers, hose and ties and white middies and shoes.

At present all work is done in the open but a "gym" hall is to be fully equipped for use in 1923-24. The floor of this hall, which will be large enough for basketball, volleyball, and indoor baseball, can be lowered or raised at will and a spacious swimming pool is to be underneath.

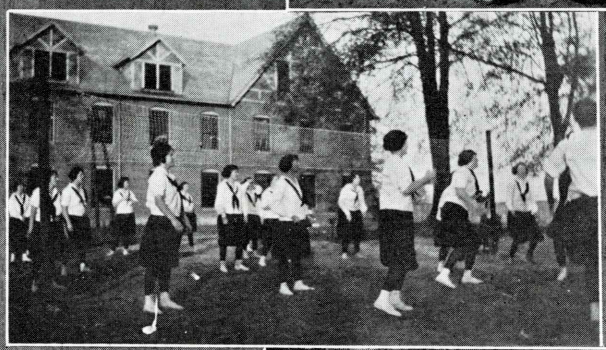

In the course of a few years the course will offer a degree in Physical Education (P. E.) to its graduates. The W. A. A. will be organized in the spring of '23 and in the fall '23 we will apply for membership in the National Women's Athletic Association.

Memories of Friday Nights

YES, perhaps only in memories, but in memories that are vividness themselves do you recall your first visit to the brightest spot in our midst—Tech's own Astor theatre. It may have been a drizzly, cold, wintry night; it may have been just such a wonderful night when the moon in all her splendor shed her sea of soft, mellow light upon a happy earth below. It matters not what the night was—you met her there. Soon you came to know that the Astor put the joy in our Friday nights, and soon we all knew that you had become one of us. Remember that time?

When tomorrow comes with its burden of years and time has taken all but the grey hairs from our wrinkled brows, we still have much behind us to be thankful for—a life of memories. With the dear girl there by your side, you can snatch back the curtain of time and dream of the many happy Friday nights that she and you spent at the Astor. She may be your dear wife, she may still be your sweetheart, she may be only your "dream" girl—it matters not which, one thing is certain, when you dream of her, memories are bound to bring back a longing for the little theatre at Ruston. Many and many a time we will all gather there once more. We shall see each other again, but alas—only in memories.

IT is with a great deal of pride that we, who have gone out into the world, can say that the Louisiana Polytechnic Institute is our Alma Mater. This pride is growing more and more each year as Old Tech gains additional glories.

The faculty is an important factor in the development of any college, next comes the student body, and last, but by no means least, are the Alumni. In the final analysis it is the achievements of the Alumni which really demonstrate the worth of the college to the world.

Many men and women who have passed through the portals of old Tech have won such pronounced success in their various callings that the emulation of their example would be an ideal worthy of the most earnest consideration of the students of today.

In the engineering world our boys have won recognition for themselves and honor for their Alma Mater. This has been accomplished in the face of the keenest kind of competition by the graduates of famous technical colleges. One man is head of a great automobile plant; another had an important part in the design of the largest tire factory in the world; another is in charge of the electrification of a great railway system; another has served industries all over the United States and Canada in a consulting capacity; while to still another the credit has been given for the development of one of the largest oil fields in Louisiana.

The names of two Tech men are being prominently mentioned as candidates for governor of the great state of Louisiana; another has won a high place politically in the state of Idaho and in the affairs of the nation.

A Tech man is rapidly gaining national recognition through his writings on scientific farming; another through his comprehensive articles in the technical publications.

In the world of business and finance scores of Tech men have proven highly successful. If we had the space we could fill several pages with their achievements.

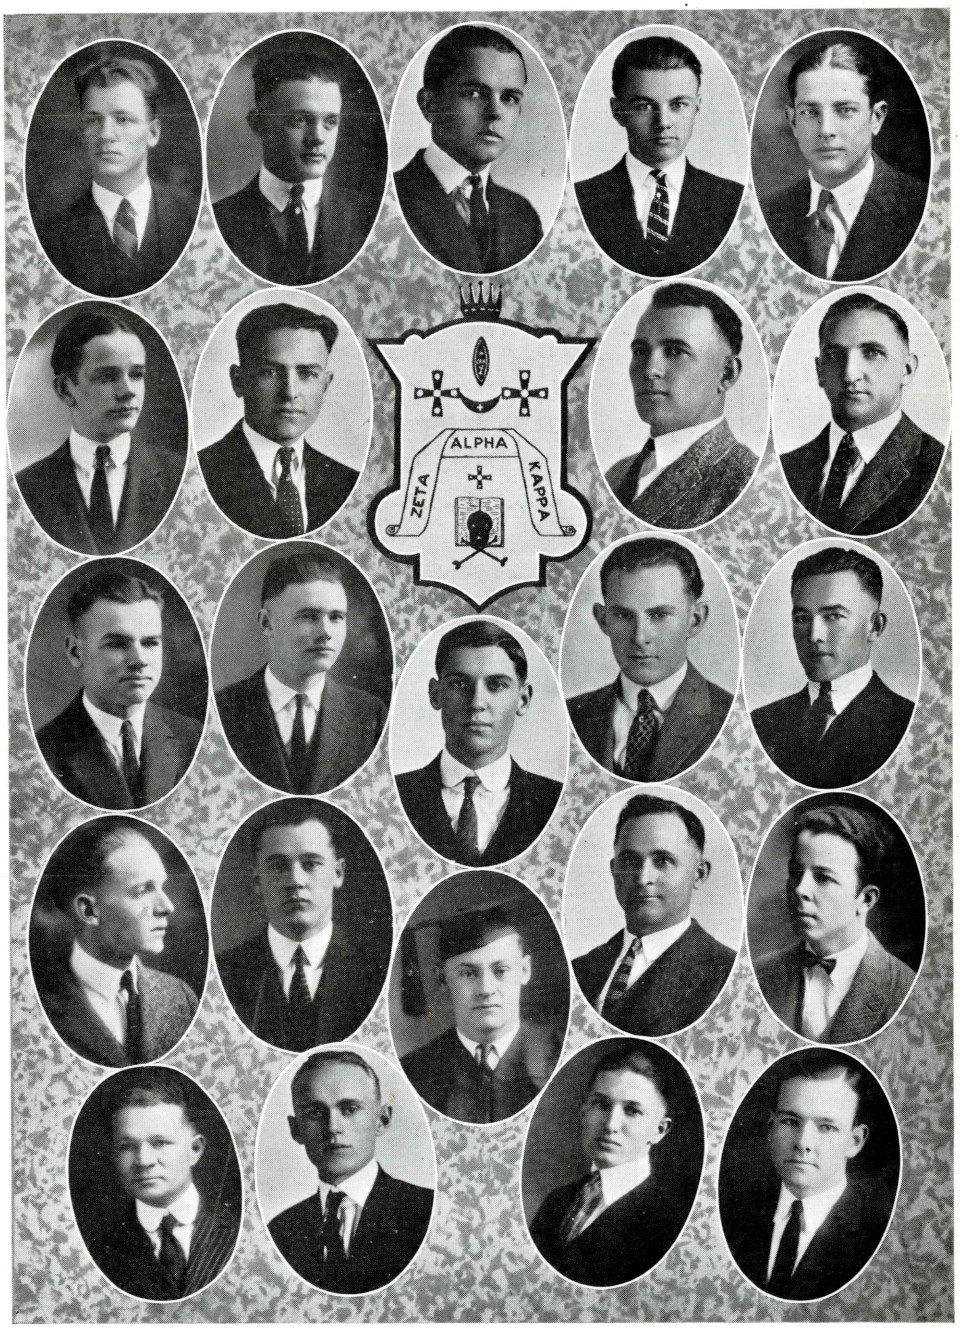

Tech girls have established high standards in the home economics and other departments in the schools throughout the state.

For a college established less than three decades and having very inadequate equipment except in recent years, the record of achievements of the Alumni is truly remarkable. Now that Tech has the equipment and facilities which were only visions a few years ago, we have a right to expect even greater achievements in the future. We know that these expectations will be fully realized because we have witnessed the growth of a loyal and fighting college spirit that forecasts great things for the future.

Y. M. C. A.

THE Young Men's Christian Association of Louisiana Tech is one of the best organizations in the college. The students are greatly benefited and the moral standard of the college is raised to a higher degree through the work and influence of the "Y."

The reading room of the Y. M. C. A. is supplied with most of the best magazines and papers; these are very interesting to the reader. This room has also an organ, victrola and piano; these instruments produce very good music for dancing and singing.

The meetings of the "Y" are held in the boys' dormitory every Sunday night and are well attended. The programs are interesting because they are carefully planned and are composed of students from the college, teachers from the faculty, and interesting and impressive speakers from town.

The "Y" has grown very much in the last few years and has a far-reaching influence through which the cabinet members are trying to make this organization the best in the state. This association was well represented at the Blue Ridge Conference in North Carolina last spring.

Y. W. C. A.

THE Young Women's Christian Association of Louisiana Tech has meant and still means more to the dormitory girls than words can express. It is the influence of the meetings of this organization that molds our girls into true, noble, Christian women.

We feel that our "Y" has been a great success; but how could it be otherwise with such loyal, sincere, loving, enthusiastic workers as we have? Although Tech has always had a "Y," we have just recently received a National Constitution and been recognized as a national organization. We are now a "full-fledged" Y. W. C. A. and can enjoy and participate in all the privileges and activities of such an association.

The regular Sunday night meetings are always enjoyed and well attended. There is either a speaker from town, often a faculty member, to bring us a message of love and truth, or a student program. These student programs are either of missionary work, Christian leadership, or miscellaneous material. The simplicity but earnestness of all meetings, and especially the Bible Study and Prayer Circles, is a striking feature.

We hope soon to have every girl, listed with the Blue Triangle, putting forth her best efforts to the betterment of Tech; to spread the loving words of truth and life to those of foreign lands; to learn more of the Bible's teachings and to brighten the dark corners of this, our native America.

"May the Lord watch between me and thee while we are absent one from the other."

Louisiana Tech Class

Baptist Sunday School

EVER since there has been an L. P. I., there has been a Sunday School class at the Baptist church made up wholly of L. P. I. students. This year is no exception for we have a strong class of L. P. I. students who have for their motto, "Help do your bit of the worth-while things."

Mr. Dhu Thompson, an attorney in the city, is our teacher. He knows how to teach boys and girls and help make them better men and women. Mr. S. A. Caldwell has just been with us as assistant teacher this term but he has proven himself to be a very capable man and teacher.

All who read this remember that we need you in our class and after one visit we believe you will decide that you need us. Make our class your class while in Ruston.

Dr. Newton H. Brown, Teacher

The class has done earnest, faithful work during the year, and has received real benefit from a diligent study of the Bible.

While the church is in process of rebuilding, this class is of necessity crowded into small quarters, but the promise of a large comfortable room for next year will doubtless result in a greatly increased attendance.

The class holds first place at the present time in the attendance contest of the Presbyterian Sunday school made possible by the faithful attendance of its members.

"Grow old along with me!
The best is yet to be,
The last of life, for which the first was made;
Our times are in his hand
Who saith, 'A whole I planned,' Youth shows but half; trust God; see all, nor be afraid!"

The Wesley Bible Class

THIS class is one of the largest and most active in the state and will compare favorably with any similar organization in the country. We have over a hundred members, with the average attendance running nearly that high.

In any branch of school life, whether it be base-ball, football, class work or any other activities you will find leaders among our members.

Last fall we undertook the support of two orphans and have successfully met the needs of these parentless children.

Mrs. Lillian Henry, our teacher, is one of the most inspiring women in the state and to her much of the credit for the success of this class is due.

Why Live in Ruston?

BECAUSE—

Education: A child can enter the first grade in primary school and go through to a college degree.

Health: Located in the uplands of Louisiana with water 99% pure, assures health, the greatest of all treasures.

Churches: A church-going town with all the principal protestant denominations, with arrangements being perfected to enlarge their facilities.

Highways: Junction Pershing Highway, north and south, and Dixie Overland east and west, together with two large systems of railways, make it the logical gateway to all North Louisiana.

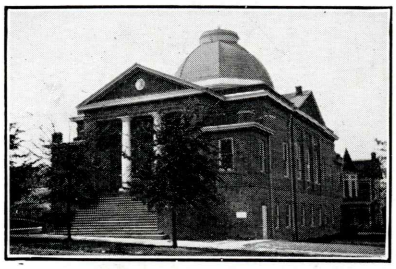

Resources: It is true we have oil, but place good citizenship, dairying, agriculture, poultry, schools, and unexcelled opportunities for development, first.

THOMAS D. BOYD, A. M., LL. D.,

To Louisiana Young Men and Young Women:

Your State University offers you general advantages second to none; it offers you special advantages the best of all.

General educational advantages may be had at any first-rate institution; the additional assets of lifelong associations and friendships are gained only at one's State University.

L. S. U. men and women are rich in knowledge; they are richer in associations and friendships.

You, as a Louisianian, very likely expect to spend your life in Louisiana. The place, then, for you to go for your higher education is the Louisiana State University.

L. S. U., rich in service, rich in tradition, rich in the record of her alumni, is entering upon an era of even greater usefulness and achievement. With the completion of the magnificent new plant, now in course of construction, your State University will offer you advantages unexcelled.

The time to enter is the present, that you may be among that host of your fellow Louisianians who will soon take possession of this splendid new home in which Louisiana's sons and daughters will be nurtured and enlightened and then sent forth into the State to continue the constructive leadership in community, parish, and State affairs now in the able hands of those who have already gone forth from L. S. U.'s bosom.

Artistry creates beauty; it expresses ideals in their most charming conceptions; Artistry makes the imagination to soar a thousand years into the future; it amasses fortunes, builds castles, populates nations, beautifies our every day life, and finds its noblest expression in the modern annual.

We are artisans-the creators of artistic year books.

In Conclusion

DO you ask why the editing of this volume of the Lagniappe has been a delightful job? Throughout the whole job we have felt that we were recording the events of the greatest year of Dear Old Tech. Of course we believe that greater years are to follow and we trust that you, who are reading this now, will catch fire with the spirit and record her future glories.
